Last updated: 15 January 2026

Our Commitment

Rewind exists to protect the data our customers rely on every day. That responsibility shapes not only the products we build, but the way we operate as an organization. With more than 25,000 customers worldwide, we recognize that our impact extends beyond data protection, it influences how we support one another, how we choose our partners, and how we contribute to the communities connected to our work.

Our approach to corporate responsibility is guided by our company values. We act with integrity, remain accountable for our decisions, stay focused on customer needs, and aim to strengthen trust through transparency and consistent performance. As a fast-growing company, we also recognize the importance of learning, adapting, and continually improving the practices that support a safe, ethical, and sustainable business.
